

Index

- Constantine
(Continued) Augustus
 by the troops, 49;
 declares himself
 Emperor, 50;
 acknowledged as Csesar by Galerius, 50; Cassar of the West, 51; victory over the Franks, 53-55; attitude toward Galerius, 60;
 marriage, 61; alliance
 of Maximian and Maxen-tius with,
 62; relations with Diocletian, 64; acknowledged as Augustus by Galerius, 66;
 recognises Maximian, 67;
 expedition against the Franks, 67, 68;
 quells Maximian,
 69; plots against,
 70, 71; his domain, 76; alliance of Licinius with, 79; war with Maxentius, 80
ff.; battle of Milvian Bridge, 86, 87;
 triumphal procession
 in Rome, 88;
 disbands Praetorians, 89; acts of conciliation, 90; games and festivals in honour of, 91; vision of the Cross and conversion, 92, 95 ff.;
 issues Edict of Milan, 107 ff.; and Licinius
 share Roman Empire, 120; war with Licinius, 120 ff.; defeats Licinius at Cibalis, 121; defeats Licinius
 at Mardia, 121;
 treaty with Licinius, 122; appoints Crispus
 as Caesar, 122; his sons, 123; rupture
 with Licinius, 123 ff.; 154; triumphs of,
 124; champion of the Church, 126, 127;
 defeats Licinius at Adrianople, 128;
 victory at Byzantium, 129; generalship of,
 130; victory at Chrysopolis, 130;
 treatment of Licinius, 131, 132; signs edict
 of toleration, 140; overthrow of Maxentius, 153;
 recalls exiled Christians, 158; and the Donatists, 159 ff.; African bishops
 appeal to, 159;
 presents money to African clergy, 166;
 letter to Caecilianus, 166; letter to Anulinus, 167; party of Ma-jorinus appeal to, 169; letter to Miltiades, 169; letter to -^Blianus, 172-174;
 letter to Chrestus, 175; letter to Council of Aries, 178-180;
 summons Cascilianus
 to Rome, 180; letter to Dona-tist
 bishops, 180; letter to Probianus, 181;
 passes judgment on Cascilianus, 182;
 change of policy, 183;
 ignores African Church, 185; letter to the Catholics and his opinion of the Donatists, 187; and Arian controversy,
 189, 207-210, 285-297; calls Council of Nicaea, 211; opens the Council, 217-219;
 and Ni-cene Creed, 230; celebrates his Vicennalia, 232, 233, 239¹³22 J farewell
 speech to Council of Nicsea, 233, 234;
 letter "To the Churches," 235;
 family, 237; mother's influence upon, 238, 239; and Procession
 of the Knights, 240;
 edict to his subjects, 241; turns against Crispus, 242; murder
 of Crispus, Licinianus, and Fausta, 243-247;
 repentance, 247, 249; donation of,
 248, 249; baptism, 248, 249; builds
 churches, 249, 251, 318, 319; campaigns
 against the Goths and vSar-matae, 252, 253;
 confession of faith, 254, 255; rela-